Pat's Paws Teen "Trainor" Club

A Service Club for Young Teens

Pat's Paws is a program that allows teens to help the homeless animals in our community by donating time and love to animals at IndyHumane, complete service projects to spread the word about IndyHumane around the community, and work with younger teens to make a difference.

This club was developed in memory of Patrick Trainor (1990-2010).

Patrick Trainor volunteered at IndyHumane as a Mentor in our Paws & Claws Club which is a junior volunteer program for young teens. He was very passionate about animal welfare and was planning to have a career in vet medicine.

Our hope is that this club will help young people learn that giving back is important and necessary to keep our community moving in a positive direction. We also hope that when sharing that passion of service with younger students in the form of mentoring, we are sparking a cycle of service that will benefit animal welfare for generations to come.
