Social Media and Cell Phone Policies

In general, we view social networking sites, personal Web sites, and blogs/vlogs positively and respect the right of Camp Staff to use them as a medium of self-expression. However, we share the concerns of many families, schools, and camps about the dangers associated with people's use of social networking Web sites. Therefore, it is our feeling that if a Camp Counselor chooses to identify themselves as a Camp Staff Member for IndyHumane on such Internet venues, some readers of such Web sites or blogs may view the Camp Counselor as a representative or spokesperson of the camp. Due to this possibility, our camp requires, as a condition of continued participation in the camp, that Camp Staff and Campers observe the following guidelines when referring to the camp, its programs or activities, its campers, and/or employees, in a blog or on a Web site.

- 🐾 Camp Staff and Campers should be respectful in all communications and blogs/vlogs related to or referencing the camp, its employees, and other campers.
- 🐾 Camp Staff and Campers should not use social networking sites, blogs/vlogs, or personal Web sites to disparage the camp, Campers, or Staff of the camp.
- 🐾 Camp Staff and Campers should not use social networking sites, blogs/vlogs, or personal Web sites to harass, bully, or intimidate other Camp Staff or Campers. Behaviors that constitute harassment and bullying include, but are not limited to, comments that are derogatory with respect to race, religion, gender, sexual orientation, color, or disability; sexually suggestive, humiliating, or demeaning comments; and threats to stalk, haze, or physically injure another person.
- 🐾 We discourage Camp Staff from having contact with Campers outside of camp and from sharing information through social networking sites, blogs/vlogs, or personal Web sites, since we cannot supervise it.

Cell Phones should only be used to take photos of Campers and Camp Staff during their camp activities. We provide each Camp Counselor with a Walkie-Talkie they may use to communicate with other Camp Staff Members. Texting, personal phone calls, and social media browsing should be reserved for breaks and lunches. This policy is in place to ensure proper attention is paid to the Campers and Animals.
